

How to turn off User Account Controls (UACs) in Windows Vista

1. Press 'start' found in the lower bottom left corner, and select the control panel, from the list on the right.

2. On the control panel, select "Classic View" from the table on the left.
3. Scroll down to the icon named "User Accounts."
4. Locate "Turn User account controls on or off", and click the link.

5. The window that appears will have a check box. Uncheck to turn off user account controls, and check the box to turn on user account controls.
